WESTERN DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA
STATESVILLE DIVISION
Civil Action No. 5:23-CV-00030

ALISON SCHULTZ, individually, and on behalf of all others similarly situated,

Plaintiff,

v.

PLANET AUTOMOTIVE GROUP, LLC,
and PLANET AUTOMOTIVE GROUP
HICKORY, LLC,

Defendants.

Answer and Affirmative Defenses to Amended
Class Action Complaint

NOW COME Defendants Planet Automotive Group, LLC (“Planet Automotive Group”), and Defendant Planet Automotive Group Hickory, LLC, by and through the undersigned counsel, and respond to Plaintiff’s Amended Class Action Complaint as follows:

Background, Parties, Jurisdiction, and Venue

1. Plaintiff Alison Schultz (“Schultz”) brings this case to protect the privacy rights of herself and a class of similarly situated people who were sent text messages on their phones by Defendants Planet Automotive Group, LLC (“Planet Automotive Group”) and Planet Automotive Group Hickory, LLC (“Hickory”) (collectively “Defendants”). Defendants repeatedly sent text messages to Schultz and the putative class members after Schultz and the putative class members expressly requested that Defendants stop sending them text messages.

Defendants deny repeatedly sending text messages to Schultz and the putative class members after Schultz and the putative class members expressly requested that Defendants stop sending them text messages. Except as expressly admitted herein, all allegations in this paragraph are denied.

2. In the early 1990s, Congress enacted the Telephone Consumer Protection Act (“TCPA”) to protect consumers’ privacy rights, namely, the right to be left alone from unwanted telemarketing calls. A leading sponsor of the TCPA described unwanted telemarketing calls as “the scourge of modern civilization.” 137 Cong. Rec. 30821 (1991).

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

3. The TCPA affords special protections for people who request to be placed on a company’s internal do not call list. Specifically, the TCPA provides that each person who receives more than one call on their cell phone after requesting to be placed on the company’s internal do not call list is entitled to recover a penalty of $500 per call, and up to $1,500 per call if the TCPA is willfully or knowingly violated.

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

4. In addition, the North Carolina legislature implemented the North Carolina Telephone Solicitations Act (“NCTSA”) to prohibit North Carolina companies from continuing to market to persons’ cell phones after a person requests that the company stop sending them marketing communications.

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

5. The problem with receiving unwanted telemarketing calls is a problem that most people in this country, like Schultz, frequently face. For example, in 2022 alone, approximately 36.8 billion robocalls were placed in the United States. RobocallIndex.com, YouMail Robocall Index, <https://robocallindex.com/history/time> (last visited January 18, 2023). The private right of enforcement of the TCPA is critical to stopping the proliferation of these unwanted telemarketing calls. For example, while the Federal Communications Commission levied over $200 million in penalties against telemarketers between 2015 and 2018, it collected less than $7,000 of that amount. See Sarah Krouse, The FCC Has Fined Robocallers $208 Million. It’s Collected $6,790, THE WALL STREET JOURNAL, March 28, 2019, <https://www.wsj.com/articles/the-fcc-has-fined-robocallers-208-million-itscollected-6-790-11553770803>.

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

6. Schultz is an individual who brings this action on behalf of herself and all others similarly situated.

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

9. Planet Automotive Group owns and operates dealerships such as Planet Mitsubishi Charlotte, Planet Mitsubishi Hickory and Planet Kia Charlotte.

13. At all times relevant to this Complaint, Planet Automotive Group owned and operated a website, located at domain, <https://planetautomotivegroup.com> ("the Planet Automotive Group website").

21. On May 22, 2023, Planet Automotive Group filed a motion to dismiss, asserting that it was improperly named as a Defendant, and that Hickory was the correct entity to be named.

Admitted.

22. As part of its motion papers, Planet Automotive Group identified the assumed business name for Hickory as "Planet Mitsubishi Hickory" and the business address for Hickory as 1775 Catawaba Valley Boulevard SE, Hickory, North Carolina 28602.

Admitted.

23. There is a website associated with a Mitsubishi auto dealership located at 1775 Catawaba Valley Boulevard SE, Hickory, North Carolina 28602, the domain for which is www.mountainmitsubishihickory.com.

Admitted.

24. The www.mountainmitsubishihickory.com domain address, however, does not identify "Planet Mitsubishi Hickory" but rather a business transacting business as "Mountain Mitsubishi."

Admitted.

25. In light of Planet Automotive Group's representations described above and Planet Automotive Group's assertion that Hickory is the correct Defendant, Plaintiff names both entities as discovery will determine who is ultimately responsible for the text messages at issue (and given the close connection between both entities, both entities may possibly be liable).

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

26. Schultz is the owner of a cell phone. Her phone number is 678-XXX-3865.

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

27. Schultz's phone is a residential line that is used primarily for personal purposes, namely, to communicate with friends and family members.

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

28. Schultz's cell phone account is held in her personal name.

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

31. Immediately after texting “Stop,” Defendants sent a responsive text message stating, “Sorry to see you go. You have been opted out of our rewards program. To opt back in, call 888-702-8350, option 2.”

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

38. Defendants' conduct caused Schultz and the putative class members to waste time addressing and/or otherwise responding to the unwanted text messages.

39. On information and belief, Defendants sent text messages to Schultz and the putative class members for the purpose of selling its products and services.

Class Allegations

40. Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(a), (b)(2) and (b)(3), Schultz brings this lawsuit as a class action on behalf of herself and all others similarly situated. This action satisfies the requirements of Rule 23.

Denied.

41. Schultz seeks to represent the following classes:

TCPA Class: All persons in the United States from four years prior to the filing of this action through class certification to whom: (1) Defendants sent text messages marketing its products or services, (2) Defendants sent more than one text message to the person in a twelvemonth period, and, (3) Defendants sent such text messages after the person requested that Defendants stop sending them text messages.

NCTSA Class: All persons in the United States from four years prior to the filing of this action to whom: (1) Defendants sent text messages marketing its products or services, and, (2) Defendants sent such text messages after the person requested that Defendants stop sending them text messages.

Defendants deny Plaintiff's eligibility to represent the named classes. Except as expressly admitted herein, all other allegations are denied.

42. Schultz reserves the right to add administrative subclasses, or to amend the definition of the proposed classes, during the lawsuit proceedings.

Denied.

43. The members of the proposed classes are so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable. Schultz reasonably believes that hundreds or thousands of people have been harmed by Defendants' actions. The phone numbers of the members of the proposed classes are readily identifiable through records available to Defendants.

Denied.

44. Most members of the proposed classes have suffered damages in an amount such that it would make filing separate lawsuits by individual members economically infeasible.

Denied.

45. On information and belief, Defendants have texted and continues to text people who have requested that Defendants stop calling them, i.e., to be placed on Defendants' internal do not call lists. It is reasonable to expect that the Defendants will continue to send such text messages absent this lawsuit.

Denied.

46. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the proposed classes and predominate over any questions affecting only individual members. The questions of law and fact common to the proposed class include, but are not limited to:
- a. Whether Defendants sent text messages to Schultz and the putative class members after they requested that Defendants no longer send them text messages;
 - b. Whether Defendants' conduct violates 47 U.S.C. § 227(c);
 - c. Whether Defendants' conduct violates the rules and regulations implementing the TCPA;
 - d. Whether Defendants' conduct violates the NCTSA; and,
 - e. Whether Schultz and the putative class members are entitled to increased damages for each violation based on the willfulness of Defendants' conduct.

Paragraph 46 and all subparagraphs are Denied.

47. Schultz's claims are typical of the claims of the proposed class members because her claims arise from the same practice that gives rise to the claims of the members of the proposed classes and are based on the same legal theories.

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

48. Schultz and her counsel will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the members of the proposed classes. Schultz's interests do not conflict with the interests of the proposed classes she seeks to represent. Schultz has retained lawyers who are competent and experienced in class action litigation, including TCPA litigation and consumer law.

Denied.

49. Schultz's counsel will vigorously litigate this case as a class action, and Schultz and her counsel are aware of their responsibilities to the putative members of the class and will discharge those duties.

Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

50. A class action is superior to all individual lawsuits for this controversy. Joinder of all proposed members of the proposed class in one action is impracticable if not impossible and prosecuting hundreds or thousands of individual actions is not feasible. The size of the individual claims is likely not large enough to justify filing a separate action for each claim. For many, if not most, members of the proposed class, a class action is the only procedural mechanism that will allow recovery. Even if members of the proposed classes had the resources to pursue individual litigation, that method would be unduly burdensome to the courts. Individual litigation could also result in inconsistent adjudications.

Denied.

51. In contrast, a class action is superior in that it will benefit the court and litigating parties through efficiency, economy of scale and unitary adjudication resulting from supervision of the litigation by a single court.

Denied.

52. Questions of law and fact, particularly the propriety of sending text messages to persons who requested that Defendants no longer text them, i.e., to place them on Defendant's internal do not call lists, predominate over questions affecting only individual members.

Denied.

53. Defendants have acted or refused to act on grounds that apply generally to the classes, making final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief appropriate with respect to the classes as a whole.

Denied.

Count I - Violations of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act ("TCPA"), 47 U.S.C. § 227 et seq.

54. Schultz incorporates by reference the allegations of the previous paragraphs as if fully stated in this Count.

Defendants re-assert and incorporate by reference their previous responses as if fully set forth herein.

55. The TCPA provides that “a person who has received more than one telephone call within any 12-month period by or on behalf of the same entity in violation of the regulations prescribed under this subsection” may recover $500 for each violation, and up to $1,500 for each violation, if the violation is determined to be willful. See 47 U.S.C. § 227(c)(5).

The text of the TCPA speaks for itself. Except as expressly admitted herein, Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

56. The regulations prescribed under Section 227(c) require companies like Defendants, who engage in telemarketing to institute “procedures for maintaining a list of persons who request not to receive telemarketing calls on or behalf of that person or entity.” See 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(d).

The text of the regulation speaks for itself. Except as expressly admitted herein, Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph, and thus deny the same.

57. These procedures must meet several minimum standards, including, but not limited to:

(1) Written policy. Persons or entities making calls for telemarketing purposes must have a written policy, available upon demand, for maintaining a do-not-call list.

(2) Training of personnel engaged in telemarketing. Personnel engaged in any aspect of telemarketing must be informed and trained in the existence and use of the do-not-call list.

(3) Recording, disclosure of do-not-call requests. If a person or entity making a call for telemarketing purposes (or on whose behalf such a call is made) receives a request from a residential telephone subscriber not to receive calls from that person or entity, the person or entity must record the request and place the subscriber's name, if provided, and telephone number on the do-not-call list at the time the request is made. Persons or entities making calls for telemarketing purposes (or on whose behalf such calls are made) must honor a residential subscriber's do-not-call request within a reasonable time from the date such request is made. This period may not exceed thirty days from the date of such request. If such requests are recorded or maintained by a party other than the person or entity on whose behalf the telemarketing call is made, the person or entity on whose behalf the telemarketing call is made will be liable for any failures to honor the do-not-call request. A person or entity making a call for telemarketing purposes must obtain a consumer's prior express permission to share or forward the consumer's request not to be called to a party other than the person or entity on whose behalf a telemarketing call is made or an affiliated entity.

(4) Identification of sellers and telemarketers. A person or entity making a call for telemarketing purposes must provide the called party with the name of the individual caller, the name of the person or entity on whose behalf the call is being made, and a telephone number or address at which the person or entity may be contacted. The telephone number provided may not be a 900 number or any other number for which charges exceed local or long distance transmission charges.

(5) Affiliated persons or entities. In the absence of a specific request by the subscriber to the contrary, a residential subscriber's do-not-call request shall apply to the particular business entity making the call (or on whose behalf a call is made), and will not apply to affiliated entities unless the consumer reasonably would expect them to be included given the identification of the caller and the product being advertised.

(6) Maintenance of do-not-call lists. A person or entity making calls for telemarketing purposes must maintain a record of a consumer's request not to receive further telemarketing calls. A do-not-call request must be honored for 5 years from the time the request is made. See 47 C.F.R. § 64.1200(d)(1)-(6).

The text of the regulation speaks for itself. Except as expressly admitted herein, Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph and all subparagraphs, and thus deny the same.

58. Defendants failed to maintain and/or implement these minimum standards by repeatedly sending text messages to Schultz and the putative class members after Schultz and the putative class members requested that Defendants stop sending them text messages.

Denied.

59. In addition, the TCPA allows the Court to enjoin Defendants from sending text messages to phone numbers that should have been placed on Defendants' internal do not call lists. See 47 U.S.C. §§ 227(c)(5)(A).

The text of the TCPA speaks for itself. Except as expressly admitted herein, Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph and all subparagraphs, and thus deny the same.

60. By sending text messages to the phones of Schultz and the putative class members after their numbers should have been placed on Defendants' internal do not call lists, Defendants violated the TCPA, including, but not limited to, 47 U.S.C. § 227(c) and the TCPA's corresponding regulations.

Denied.

61. Defendants knew or should have known that Schultz and the putative class members did not wish to receive text messages as such persons expressly advised Defendants that they did not wish to receive text messages from Defendants.

Denied.

62. Schultz and the putative class members are entitled to damages of $500.00 per violation for each text message sent by Defendants in violation of the TCPA and up to $1,500.00 per violation if the Court finds that Defendants willfully violated the TCPA.

Denied.

Count II - Violations of The North Carolina Telephone Solicitations Act ("NCTSA"), N.C. Gen. Stat. § 75-100 et seq.

63. Schultz incorporates the previous paragraphs as if fully stated in this Count.

Defendants re-assert and incorporate by reference their previous responses as if fully set forth herein.

64. Defendants are “telephone solicitors” as defined by Section 75-101(10) of the NCTSA because Defendants are each a “business, or other legal entity doing business in [North Carolina] . . . that makes or attempts telephone solicitations.”

This Paragraph calls for a legal conclusion. Except as expressly admitted herein, all other allegations are denied.

65. Schultz is a “telephone subscriber” as defined by Section 75-101(11) of the NCTSA because she “subscribes to . . . a wireless telephone company.”

This Paragraph calls for a legal conclusion. Except as expressly admitted herein, all other allegations are denied.

66. The text messages sent to Schultz and the putative NCTSA Class members are each a “telephone solicitation” as defined by Section 75-101(10) of the NCTSA because they each are a “text communication . . . over a . . . wireless telephone network that is made by a telephone solicitor for the purpose of soliciting or encouraging the purchase or rental of, or investment in, property, goods or services”

This Paragraph calls for a legal conclusion. Except as expressly admitted herein, all other allegations are denied.

67. The NCTSA is violated where a “telephone solicitor . . . make[s] a telephone solicitation to a telephone subscriber’s telephone number if the telephone subscriber previously has communicated to the telephone solicitor a desire to no receive no further telephone solicitations from the telephone solicitor to that number.” N.C. Gen. Stat. § 75- 102(b).

The text of the NCTSA speaks for itself. Except as expressly admitted herein, Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph and all subparagraphs, and thus deny the same.

68. Schultz communicated to Defendants that she did not want to receive text messages from Defendants on her cell phone, and Defendants confirmed they would no longer send such messages.

Denied.

69. Defendants repeatedly ignored Schultz's request to stop sending her text messages and sent her an additional five marketing text messages.

Denied.

70. On information and belief, Defendants were also advised by the putative NCTSA class members that they no longer wished to receive text messages from Defendants.

Denied.

71. On information and belief, Defendants also ignored the requests of the NCTSA putative class members to stop being sent text messages and continued to send text messages to the putative class members.

Denied.

72. Defendants' failure to comply with Schultz's and the putative class members' requests to stop sending them text messages violates the NCTSA.

Denied.

73. The penalty for violating the NCTSA is $500 for the first violation, $1,000 for the second violation and $5,000 for the third and any subsequent violations. N.C. Gen. Stat. § 75-105(a)(1).

The text of the NCTSA speaks for itself. Except as expressly admitted herein, Defendants lack sufficient knowledge or information to form a belief as to the truth or falsity of the allegations contained in this paragraph and all subparagraphs, and thus deny the same.

74. A company that violates the NCTSA is also required to pay the opposing party's "reasonable attorneys' fees." N.C. Gen. Stat. § 75-105(d).

Plaintiffs misquote the text of the NCTSA. Except as expressly admitted herein, all other allegations are hereby denied.

Affirmative Defenses

First Affirmative Defense Proper Procedures in Place

Defendants plead as an affirmative defense that they have established and implemented, with due care, reasonable practices and procedures to effectively prevent telephone solicitations that would violate the TCPA.

Second Affirmative Defense Plaintiff Opted Back In

To the extent that Defendants received consent to send subsequent texts to Plaintiff or the proposed class by Plaintiff and/or the proposed class's opting back in to receiving messages, whether through customer agreements, written, or verbal statements, or otherwise, the claims are barred.

Third Affirmative Defense Thirty Day Safe Harbor for NCTSA Claims

Defendants plead as an affirmative defense that the NCTSA allows telephone solicitors up to 30 days to cease communicating with a telephone subscriber who has asked not to be further contacted.

Fourth Affirmative Defense Compliance with the Time Requirements within the Telemarketing Sales Rule

Defendants plead as an affirmative defense to Plaintiff's NCTSA claims that Defendants' compliance with the time requirements within the Telemarketing Sales Rule for incorporating and complying with updated versions of the "Do Not Call" Registry constitutes compliance with North Carolina law.

Prayer for Relief

WHEREFORE Defendants Planet Automotive Group LLC and Planet Automotive Group Hickory LLC pray the Court for the following relief

- a. That the Court deny Plaintiff's motion pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(a), (b)(2) and (b)(3), and deny certification of this action as a class action, denying Schultz's appointment as class representative;
- b. That the Court enter judgment in favor of Defendants on all claims;
- c. That the Court award Defendants' attorneys' fees as permitted by the NCTSA;
- d. That the Court award Defendants all expenses of this action, and require that Plaintiffs pay the costs and expenses of class notice and administration; and,
